

FHWien der WKW at the EBEN Research Conference 2018

"Beyond corruption - fraudulent behavior in and by companies" is the topic of the conference which has been co-organized by the Center for Corporate Governance & Business Ethics at FHWien der WKW.

Vienna, September 6, 2018 – The conference initiated by EBEN Austria in cooperation with the Center for Corporate Governance & Business Ethics (CGBE) at FHWien der WKW will take place from September 6-8, 2018 at Palais Eschenbach in Vienna. EBEN (European Business Ethics Network) is the European network for business ethics and supports initiatives on a national and regional level.

Around 70 experts from Hong Kong, Japan, Malaysia, South Africa, Australia and the USA as well as experts from 15 European countries are taking part in this year's renowned conference on combating corruption. Among them is the renowned researcher Richard Nielsen, Professor at Boston College. In his keynote speech, he spoke about anti-corruption methods in the context of different economic policy systems.

Markus Scholz, Head of CGBE and Co-Head of Research Cluster SMEs & Family Businesses at FHWien der WKW, will discuss anti-corruption measures with Ursula Simacek (CEO of SIMACEK), Victoria Williams (CEO of GSK Austria), Nastassja Cernko (Sustainability Manager of OeKB) and Andreas Gnesda (President of ÖGV). Daniela Ortiz, team leader of the „Stadt Wien Kompetenzteam für nachhaltiges, strategisches und chancenorientiertes Management von KMU“ at FHWien der WKW, will moderate the discussion.
